Interior Disturbances Continue To Effect Business

BY DAVID ARAKIE

In the broad range of financial and economic affairs in Shanghai the lapse of a week seldom brings into sharp focus any startling changes in the general situation. Often the effects are so slow as to emerge after the lapse of some time. There is certainly nothing of a disquieting nature in the present state of the commerce of this important port.

The attention of those who sit in the lookout and scan the horizon for signs of what the future holds for business in China has been directed to developments in the interior more than to those abroad. There are some who maintain that the country is going to rack and ruin by the lawlessness prevailing in several parts. These disorders have thrown business and industrial equilibrium almost into disarray.

Any improvement that is noted from time to time in the markets is of a description that is susceptible of being swept away very easily by adverse factors such as obtain in parts of China.

STEADY DEMAND NEEDED

The happy equilibrium will be reached when, of course, demand keeps up at a steady pace. This has not been reached and will probably take some considerable time to eventuate. The disruption of normal business in China by the lawlessness and periodical wars are too serious for any soberminded and calculating merchant to accurately measure the breath and strength of the buying demands or estimate their sustained character. This is one of the problems that only a return to peace can iron out in time, but not until the unfavorable conditions that now prevail in business are eliminated.

The country is in need of large quantities of certain commodities, but the dealers are deterred from placing their orders for fear of the cargo falling into the hands of the marauding soldiery. It is this fact which makes the situation so disquieting to the merchant. An instance which would suffice to prove this is that stocks of piecegoods today are the lowest than they have ever been during the war—and during the war stocks were unquestionably the lowest. This is not by any means due to poverty of the purchasers but the disorder up country.

EFFECT OF BOYCOTT

Writing on piecegoods, it is worthy of comment that in recent years it has been observed that the time when importing houses do a roaring business is when a calamity overtakes the Japanese market. In the present instance, the boycott initiated by Chinese students against Japanese ware has given these importers an opportunity to fill their blank books. It is a valuable commentary upon the way Japan has captured certain lines in the piecegoods trade. Her hold on the Chinese market in this respect is growing steadily. In greys the Japanese manufactures have almost knocked out Manchester from the field, although there are some Manchester chops in greys that are still sought for by the Chinese. But these are extremely few.

As a consequent result of this boycott Manchester manufacturers have been making hay. Until the end of last week the buying was sustained at a high level, but with the decline of exchange since then, the Chinese dealers have been reluctant to operate. The attitude of these buyers is significant of the force of the so-called patriotism that is pervading them. Manchester goods are expensive, compared with the Japanese products, but they do not allow that to come between them and their declared intention to oust Japanese manufactures until the return to China of Dairen and Port Arthur. Many interpret it as at insurance on the part of buyers against confiscation of their cargo should the boycott last longer than they anticipate. The large orders

PEKING DEMANDS TOKIO'S APOLOGY, ALSO INDEMNITY

Punishment Of Marines Commander At Changsha Asked

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 8.—A Note from China to Japan on June 6 in connection with the Changsha incident demands (1) the punishment of the Japanese commander of the marines, (2) indemnity for those killed and wounded, (3) that the commander apologise to the local authorities, (4) that the Japanese Government apologise to China, and (5) that Japan guarantee that similar troubles will not occur in future. A previous Note to Japan demanded the withdrawal of the gunboat, Fushimi. China understands that Japan complied but is sending another gunboat. The Note of June 6 demands the withdrawal of this gunboat.

Tokio, June 8.—The despatch of four destroyers to Changsha has been confirmed. They will probably leave on June 9.

Peking, June 5.—It is understood that the Commandant of the Peking garrison has informed the Chief of Police and the commandant of the Peking gendarmerie that the students who intend to search for Japanese goods in the shops must be persuaded not to do so.

The Chinese shops which keep Japanese goods are advised to hide them to avoid loss. The Commandant has also informed the authorities mentioned that Japanese residents and merchants must be properly protected.

School Boys Are Back Of Changsha Boycott Trouble

(China Press Correspondence)

Changsha, June 5.—The number of the actually dead at this place, as the result of the anti-Japanese trouble dwindled to two.

Honor where honor is due, and to give St. Nicholas his due, it must be said that the Japanese have acted very well indeed at this crisis.

Shops are still in mourning. Schools are still making a high lay of it. Groups of half-grown schoolboys are at every convenient point haranguing rather small gatherings of other schoolboys, with a sprinkling of larger folk who ought to have more sense than they seem to have.

Long precessions of boys and youths parading the narrow streets and blocking the intersections. A crowd piles up waiting to cross, gradually gatting madder and madder as the procession wends its slow and apparently needless way, until, losing all semblance of patience, some begin to push across the line.

CHURCH'S DRIVE OFF WITH THIRD OF SUM PLEDGED

Total Of Tls. 22,000 Already Subscribed For Community Institution

One-third of the total of Tls. 65,000 needed for the new Community Church has already been subscribed.

Taking the view that giving should begin at home, the Campaign Committee which is raising Tls. 65,000 for the proposed new Community Church building, met at tiffin yesterday at the Hotel Parisien and thoroughly canvased itself. At the end of the meeting it was found that the solicitors themselves had subscribed Tls 9,756. Dr. J. B. Fearn, chairman of the Advisory Committee, also announced pre-campaign pledges amounting to Tls. 12,250, making a total of Tls. 22,006 subscribed before the campaign had its official beginning.

The announcements in regard to these advance subscriptions put a good deal of enthusiasm into the start of the canvass, as the amount already in hand before the public was asked to contribute amounted to one-third of the total amount required.

Consul-General Edwin S. Cunningham was present at the tiffin and made a short address. His main points were:

1. In America a community of 3,500 people would probably be supporting three or four different churches.

2. The percapita income of the Shanghai American Community is much more than the per capita income of a community of the same size in the States.

3. I am glad that in this church we are breaking down denominational lines and uniting the various sects. More than that, we are taking this church into a part of Shanghai where at present there is no Protestant church, and in that way we are competing with no other church and are rendering a real service to an unchurched part of town.

4 Up to the present when travellers have come to Shanghai we have been able to point them to American Clubs, American business organisations, and the American School. They have often asked, "Have you no American Church?" We have been compelled to say that there was no church building and equipment. church for the American community as such.

This campaign is being carried forward to supply what we now realise is a real need in our community life.

There are ten teams of a average of ten members each. About seventy-five percent of the team members were present at the opening meeting. The following pre-campaign pledges were announced:

BERLIN'S NEW NOTE SENT TO ALLIES; PARIS IS SKEPTICAL

Unacceptable Because It Ignores Passive Resistance, View

OUTLINES PLAN

Germany Willing To Pledge Properties For Reparation

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 7.—The German Note has been handed to the Allies.

The Note dwells on the German Government's offer to accept the decision of an impartial international body regarding the amount and method of payment of reparations; repeats its request for a conference to decide how best to discharge its obligations, saying that an oral discussion is essential, and offers to substitute a scheme of annuities if big-scale loans are impracticable; and also offers guarantees in the shape of railways and the first mortgage on real estate, each of which would produce 500,000,000 gold marks annually. Likewise, it suggests pledging the import customs on consumable non-necessities, the excise on tobacco, beer, wine and sugar and the receipts from the spirits monopoly.

The Note also offers to supply the proposed international body with all the available information necessary for the forming of a reliable judgment of Germany's capacity to pay, to throw open for inspection all financial records and to furnish details of the resources of German industry and business.

The interest of five percent on bords of 10,000,000,000 gold marks would be a direct first charge on German railways from July 1, 1927.

The entire business, industry, banking, trade, traffic and agriculture of Germany would be concerned in the mortgage on real estate, the annual dues of 500,000,000 gold marks from this being levied either indirectly in the form of a general tax on all classes of property or on specific objects or mortgage.

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, June 7.—Today's communication has not the status of a "note," according to a semi-official statement declaring it to be merely a memorandum aiming at the facilitation of resumption of exchange of views by elucidating and elaborating those points in the last German Note which were common to all the Allies' replies.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, June 7.—It is reported from Coblence that the military have occupied the metallurgical establishments at Neuwied and Engers, belonging to Krupp's, which will be retained as a pledge until the 20,000,000,000 marks due from Krupp's as coal-tax is paid.

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 7.—The attitude of British official quarters with regard to the German Note is reserved. The Note is likely to be considered by the Cabinet at a very early moment. It is suggested that an inter-Allied exchange of views may follow.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, June 7.—Political circles unanimously regard the German Note as unacceptable because it does not mention a cessation of passive resistance. They are therefore of the opinion that inter-Allied conversations would be unnecessary.

Brussels, June 7.—The French Premier, M. Poincare, left Brussels today for Paris.

New York, June 8.—With the exception of the New York Tribune, which sees in it the usual evasiveness and "no weakening of the great German obsession of her capacity to escape the penalties of the war" the newspapers consider Germany's memorandum a great advance on the previous reparation offers.

The New York Times expresses the opinion that the main obstacle now is the passive resistance in the Ruhr. If the demand for its

Harry A Wallerstein. Senator T H Caraway

UNITED States Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway, Democrat, of Arkansas, whose poundage would put him in the heavyweight class, may be defendant in a suit contemplated by Harry A. Wallerstein, of Washington. Following a quarrel between the two on a street car, Caraway wrecked a perfectly good umbrella on Wallerstein's face and shoulders. Wallerstein, former service man, claims he brushed Caraway accidentally. Caraway alleges Wallerstein kept pulling the Senator's hat over his face. Wallerstein is 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 125 pounds.

Charge And Counter-Charge In Publishing Firm Suit

In the suit brought by Mr. Harold Russel, former vice-president and general manager of the L. C. Publishing Company, against that company in the United States Court yesterday morning for [illegible] salary, there was [illegible] cross-examination of the plaintiff by Mr. F. J. Schuhl being of a particularly searching character. The defendants were represented by Mr. Schuhl and the plantiff by Mr. Sidney Moss.

In an amended answer filed by the L. C. Publishing company it was admitted that the salary to be paid to Mr. Russel should be six hundred taels per month but conditional on the company making money to pay this amount. It was further contended by the defendants that this proviso was ratified and admitted by the plaintiff as being correct. The defendants counter-claimed Tls. 550 as being the amount of funds applied to his own use and belonging to the company. Furthermore it was alleged that he had deducted from the [illegible] 302; the same being set-offs to the plaintiff's personal account, and that he also collected Tls. 600 for and on behalf of the company, which sum he had failed to turn over.

Mr. Moss mentioned that when the case was filed there was an answer lodged by the defendants. The latter afterward took leave to file an amended petition. They could not in one breath say it was an oral agreement and in another breath in their amended answer say it was a written agreement.

The Judge: Did they say that the agreement is the same?—I do not know what defence they are relying upon.

The Judge: The amended petition before the Court.

Mr. Moss: It is a settled fact that oral evidence cannot be introduced to vary the terms of a written agreement. In this case the written agreement on which our claim is based is a resolution passed at a meeting of the board of directors. The defense which is set up is that of a meeting which took place on April 3, 1922 at the offices of the company at 112 Szechuen Road, the minutes of which the defendants have filed.

Mr. Moss then read the minutes, which were as follows:

"The minutes of a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the L. C. Publishing Company held in the office of the Secretary at 112 Szechuen Road on Tuesday, April 3, 1922, at 5.30 p.m. Present Messrs. R. Peyton-Griffin, Harold Russel and J. W. Schoenfeld.

"The meeting then proceeded to the consideration of certain irregular financial transactions of the general manager, H. Russel Mr. Russel admitted that he had drawn certain sums in various compradore orders but also admitted that it was the understanding of the officers, directors and stock holders of the company that the salary of Tls. 600 per month to be paid to the president and general manager were only to be paid by and when the profit of the company permitted such payment. Mr. Russel promised to refund by the following Monday morning all funds belonging to the company and unlawfully withheld by him.

"There being no further business the meeting on motion, duly seconded and carried, then adjourned. Signed by R. Peyton-Griffin (chairman) and J. W. Schoenfeld, secretary."

Mr. Moss continued to argue that that certainly was not a written agreement, and the provision could not be made part of a written agreement. It could not be one of the inducing part of the agreement nor could it vary the terms of the contract. It was not even a proviso.

Mr. Moss submitted there was a difference between varying the terms of an agreement such as a [illegible] fors

W. W. YEN NAMED PREMIER, DR. KOO FOREIGN CHIEF

Appointment To Be Formally Gazetted If Chang Stays Away

Special to The China Press

Peking, June 8.—Dr. W. W. Yen has accepted the invitation of President Li Yuan-hung to organise a Cabinet. He and Dr. Wellington Koo had tiffin together with the Chief Executive today when the latter first offered the premiership to Koo, who, declining, suggested that Dr. Yen would be better for that post. Koo will be Foreign Minister in the new Cabinet.

Dr. Yen at first refused to accept unless Wang Kuo-min, the financier, is made Minister of Finance. Telephone messages were sent to Mr. Wang to have tiffin with the president but he could not be reached. Upon further inducement Dr. Yen consented to accept the premiership.

When seen later in the day, Mr. Wang declared that he did not propose to accept the finance portfolio unless his appointment was endorsed by General Tsao Kun.

The president tonight sent another telephone message to Premier Chang Shao-tseng to return to his office as a matter of course. If this receives a negative answer, the appointment of Yen will be formally gazetted.

Chihli-Fengtien Troops To Withdraw

(Reuters Pacific Service)

Peking, June 5.—It is learnt from Military circles that the Chihli troops at Kaiou will be withdrawn to Jehol and those at Hsifengkow to Peking in a few days. The same circles state that the Fengtien troops near Shanhaikuan will also be withdrawn eastwards shortly.

General Lu Chin will be in charge of the evacuation of the Chihli troops.

NEGOTIATORS OFF TODAY FOR PAOTZUKU ON WHAT MAY BE FINAL EFFORT

Anderson, Wen And General Chen In Party That Will Attempt To Conclude Parleys; Peking Sends 700 More Uniforms And Money For Arrears Of Pay; Diplomatic Corps Resents Ex-Premier's Accusations That Foreigners Were To Blame For Continued Imprisonment Of Captives

By Lloyd ("Larry") Lehrbas
(China Press Staff Correspondent)

Tsaochuang, June 8.—Back pay and uniforms for approximately seven hundred of the better elements among the bandits are due here tomorrow from Peking. Roy Anderson, Commissioner Wen and General Chen Tiao-yuan will go to Paotzuku again tomorrow in what is expected to be the final trip in connection with the negotiations. They will take additional enrolling clerks in order to speed the enlistment of the bandits in the army, although Mr. Anderson said today that rush measures could not be adopted for fear of causing a new outbreak of the dissensions among the outlaws, which in turn would endanger the chances of the captives for early release.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 8.—The Diplomatic Corps, in a Note to the Waichiaopu today, expresses profound astonishment at a statement by General Chang Shou-tseng to the effect that the Diplomatic Body is to blame for China's failure to obtain a speedy release of the captives in Shantung. The Diplomatic Body protests against the statement, both on account of its flagrant inaccuracy and its deplorable lack of international courtesy.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tsaochuang, June 7.—The negotiations for the release of the captives, while apparently proceeding [illegible] favorable, and [illegible] that have been obtained are stated by the Government delegates to be quite up to expectations. To those outside, and to a certain extent even to observers at Tsaochuang, it appears that there is considerable delay, considering that the terms are more or less straightforward, even if preposterous.

But it has to be remembered that the enrolling of the bandits into the army will alone take a matter of some four or five days as the utmost care is being taken by the Government officials in the enlistment. Then all the minor points promote discussion, and there is danger of upsetting the present smooth progress if things are hurried. Above all, widening of the breach which exists in the bandit ranks must be avoided.

For registration purposes there are seven secretaries, and up-to-date over five companies, or six hundred men, have been enrolled. While this is being completed, the other outstanding points are being settled by conference both in the bandit area and at Tsaochuang.

Yesterday there were four representatives from the hills here, Tsu Tsu-sung, Sun Han-ching, Tsu Kuo-tiang and Chi Chin-kiang. These four saw the Deputy Tuchun and the Government delegates in the morning, and left again for Paotzuku in the afternoon.

The bandits are quite at home at Tsaochuang now, and whereas it was at first difficult to induce them to allow a photograph to be taken, they are ready to submit to the attentions of as many cameras as can be brought to bear upon them. They will raise their hats, gently sway their fans, and smile broadly in the most approved movie manner. The local storekeepers have incidentally been successful in doing a little polite banditry, though as the gentlemen from Paotzuku were using stolen money, they could hardly be said to be the losers.

It is believed here that the bandits have requested that no more aeroplanes shall be sent up to reconnoitre, for there have been no flights since Sunday. The appearance of these planes, together with the presence of the Military Commission, did not tend to increase the bandits' confidence in themselves.

Today there are no Government Delegates of importance at Paotzuku. The secretaries are continuing their work of enrolment. There is one bandit representative here, but he is not conducting any negotiations. One of the superior class, a robber's life has evidently proved too hard for him, as he is now seriously ill.

The International Commission of Inquiry is now hard at work. The hearing is in camera, but it is understood that the chief points which the Commission is endeavoring to clear up are whether the train-crew were aware of the impending hold-up, and whether the train-guard attempted to resist the looting of the train.

Two car boys were interrogated on Tuesday, and yesterday Mr. Lloyd Lehrbas, one of the captives

YACHT SHANGHAI SAFELY ARRIVES IN BATAVIA, WORD

Two Of Crew Have To Give Up 16,000 Mile Cruise

The 27-ton auxiliary yacht Shanghai, which sailed from here February 17 on the first leg of a 16,000-mile cruise to Copenhagen, arrived in Batavia on May 15, where two of the six hardy navigators left the vessel to proceed by steamship, according to word received here yesterday.

The message received stated that the Shanghai had experienced a splendid cruise thus far, but from Manila to Batavia had to travel by motor power all the way, owing to continuous calm. The two men to leave the yacht at Batavia were Captain H. Kjaer, who skippered the vessel out of here, and Mr. P. N. Jensen. The reason for their abandoning the cruise and taking the Dutch Mail for home was that it was found impossible to carry enough water on the small craft for the use of all.

The remaining quartette of mariners expected to sail from Batavia May 22, bound for Durban. The four are Messrs. H. F. Venman, A. Ingwersen, E. Haugeland and V. Bentsen.

High Commission To Study Japanese Immigration To U. S.

Exclusive Dispatch To THE CHINA PRESS

Tokio, June 8.—Arrangements have been practically completed for the appointment of a joint high commission to study the whole question of Japanese immigration to America and to report to both governments.

The commission will make an intensive study of the whole question of Japanese immigration to America, with the frankest possible exchanges of views on both sides. It will strive to ascertain the real cause of misunderstanding and discord, and consider methods for a fundamental and permanent solution of the entire question.

who escaped an hour or two after the wreck occurred, gave his version. Practically all the questions asked referred to one or other of the above points. It is stated that a report will be issued for publication at the conclusion of the inquiry.

The Commission is constituted as follows: Mr. Wen Bing-ching, Mr. Clarence S. K. Chow, Dr. Telly Koo (sec), Dr. Lee Feng, Mr. Tung Sung-ting, Ministry of Foreign Affairs; Messrs. Sun-Feng-tsao, S. T. Chow, M. P. Tsing, I. Hsuan-si, Railway Directorate and Staff; Messrs Feng Kuo-hsuan, Cheng Ren-jih, Civil Governor's Representatives; Mr. Tu Sih-chieh, Tuchun's representative; Mr. B. G. Tours, British Consul General; Mr. J. K. Davis, American Consul; M. Crepin, French Consul; Signor R. Ferrajolo, Italian Consul, and Major W. C. Philoon, U. S. Assistant Military Attache.

The rather alarmist reports which have appeared stating that Father Potte, the German Medical Missionary who went to Paotzuku some days ago, had been forced to leave, have proved inaccurate.

The latest letters received mention that Father Potte was asked to leave at first as the bandits were under the impression that he had come in the role of a spy. Father Potte explained that he was there according to Papal instructions, and whether the bandits fully understood or not, they permitted him to remain.

Tsaochuang, June 7.—The final agreement with regard to the enrollment of bandits and the release of captives has been ratified by Tuchun Chi Shih-yuan of Kiangsu. It will be signed by the Deputy Tuchun of Shantung, Mr. Cheng Shih-chi, as soon as it is endorsed by General Tsao Kun.

The authorities have sent eight sedan-chairs to Paotzuku for the conveyance of the foreign prisoners who, it is reported, will be liberated shortly.

Mr. Wu Chang-chi, Tuchun Tien Chung-yu's delegate, proceeded to Paotzuku yesterday bringing with him two thousand uniforms and $50,000. Tuchun Tien is firm in the belief, that the captives, both foreign and Chinese, will be set free shortly.

Washington, June 7.—The American Red Cross has announced that a sum of G.$2,000 will be allocated towards the relief of the captives in connection with the Lincheng bandit outrage.

Tsaochuang, June 7.—Significant revelations were made in an interview with Chi Chin-kiang, the bandit emissary, yesterday, with regard to the ways by which the outlaws obtained their ammunition.

Rifles and pistols, Chi said, were purchased at times from Japanese agents at Tsinanfu or Tsingtau, but the principal source of munition supplies came from the Government troops.

"We buy munitions from the troops, either wholesale or retail transactions," Chi stated. "In the case of wholesale transactions, we have to approach the officers who trade with us in quite a business-like way. We, of course, leave it to them how to account for the disappearance of large quantities of munitions sold to us, in case their superior authorities take them to task.

"By retail transactions, I mean the habitual sale of munitions to us by individual soldiers. Such transactions usually take place after 'raid' on the bandits. Each soldier, for instance, is given say one hundred rounds for a 'bandit extermination campaign.' He fires five or six shots mostly skyward in order to show to his commander that he is really fighting against us. The ninety-odd rounds of munitions thus saved are carefully kept and, when the engagement is over, sold to us at reasonable rates.

"Sometimes, when troops are captured by us, they know that fortune smiles on them, provided they still have their guns with them. We seldom kill the troops captured, just as they seldom injure us. We must cultivate friendly business relations. We give such captives several drinks and perhaps a feast of chicken and pork in exchange for their rifles and whatever munitions they have and they are only too glad to give us the guns as ransom for their lives.

"We regard ammunition as more valuable than money. Before we thought of buying anything else, we purchased our weapons first."

When asked how many Chinese female captives were held at Paotzuku, Chi said that only a few remained there because they would not leave except with their husbands.

"Women," he remarked, "are taboo in our camps. The idea inherited from time immemorial is that to associate with women on the eve of a fight against the troops would mean sure defeat and bring disaster. Indeed, we would not care to take women to the hills, or if we take them through mercy, and that is, for fear of injuries done to them by the troops following a raid, we do not keep them long."

In conclusion, Chi characterised the reports appearing in both the Chinese and foreign newspapers with regard to the murder of Chinese captives in cold blood by the bandits as malicious and false. He said that the reporters filled their articles with legendary accounts concerning the savage conduct of the bandits of old days.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 5.—Messages from Mukden state that General Chang Tso-lin, in view of the Lincheng outrage and the bandit problem generally and the ameliorated relations between Chihli and Fengtien, has suggested two plans for the suppression of brigandage in the Three Eastern Provinces.

One of these is to appoint General Li Ching-lin as Commander-in-Chief for the subjugation of bandits for the three provinces. The other scheme is to establish military bureaux in each of the three provinces with General Li Ching-lin Commander of the Fengtien Bureau, General Chang Tsin-chung Commander of the Kirin Bureau and General Pa Yin-ao Commander in Heilungkiang.

Boycott Leaders May Lose Heads

(China Press Correspondence)

Changsha, June 7.—With a view to putting a stop to the boycott movement against the Japanese, General Chao Heng-ti, Civil Governor of Hunan, has issued an order prescribing capital punishment for those who shall search private residences or shops for Japanese goods, molest pedestrians or force merchants to destroy Japanese goods. Martial Law is still being enforced in the city.

The Japanese Consul has notified the Japanese women and children to go on board the Japanese gunboat and the male members of the Japanese community to move to the Consulate, owing to the hostile attitude of the Chinese populace.

The Fushima Maru, which was withdrawn from Changsha on Tuesday evening, has again sailed into the harbor. In reply to a protest lodged by Mr. Yang Sun-chong, Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, in this connection, the Japanese Consul declares that since the Chinese authorities have failed to ensure protection to the Japanese nationals, the Japanese authorities must take action for their safety.

The Japanese Consul has further warned the Commissioner that if the Chinese refuse to supply daily necessities to the Japanese residents, the whole Japanese community will leave Changsha, but the Chinese authorities will be held responsible for whatever damages and losses they may incur.

A number of Chinese servants in the employ of Japanese shops and families have left for fear of personal danger as threatened by the anti-Japanese organs.

The Magistrate of Siangtan district was insulted by the students yesterday because he wore a silk jacket which was suspected to be made of Japanese material. The students stamped a red sign, bearing the words, "Japanese slaves," on his back, pushed him out into the street and shouted, "Look at the Japanese slave!"

Li To Stick Until New Constitution Is Finished, He Says

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Peking, June 8.—The President gave an interview to Mr. Lenox Simpson this morning, which is being published at the direction of the President.

Replying to his adviser's request for a statement with regard to the precise position of the draft permanent Constitution, the President said that six years ago the Constitutional draft passed its second reading with the exception of a few articles. Those missing articles were today practically settled. The President said that the present issue was the so-called provincial system, viz., definition of the respective powers of the Central Government and the provinces, which was to form an additional chapter. That explained the efforts made to prevent Parliament from completing its work for the fight was now between provincial self-government and the tuchun system. It would not take more than a month or six weeks to settle the matter. "I am determined not to leave the Presidential Chair until it is settled."

China's Navy Gets Old Hanna Yacht

Manila, P. I., June 7.—The yacht El Aguila, formerly owned by the late Senator Mark Hanna, of Ohio, is to be seen in action as a Chinese gunboat on the Yangtse river, according to Chau Chia-co, a local Chinese firm which has just purchased the craft from the Philippine department of the United States army for $6,025.

The yacht was built in 1892 and was named the "Commanche." It was taken over by the navy during the war and the name changed to the "Frolic." Later it passed to the army, and again became El Aguila.

Patriarch Tikhon's Spirit Unbroken

(Reuter's Service)

Riga, June 7.—The Patriarch Tikhon's spirit is apparently unbroken. It appears that the Soviet announcement that he merely signed the notification of his unfrocking is incorrect. On the contrary, he wrote the word "Illegal" across the document, and signed himself "Tikhon, Patriarch of Moscow and All Russia."

Berlin's New Note Is Sent To Allies

cessation is ceded there is every reason to believe that France and Belgium will be willing jointly to confer with Britain and Italy with regard to a solution.

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 8.—The impression produced by the German memorandum is almost unanimously favorable. Even the intensely Francophile Morning Post is joining in the general opinion that the latest offer is a vast improvement, both in tone and contents, on its predecessor. It is recognised that the concrete guarantees are a long step forward, and these, it is estimated, will realise £60,000,000 annually at the outset and will largely increase as economic activity is restored. The repeated German desire to refer its capacity for reparation payments to an international body is considered a very reasonable request. On the other hand, it is pointed out that there are many salient omissions, such as the absence of a firm sum for the indemnity and of proposals for the stabilisation of the mark, which are inextricably bound up with the solution of the question as to how long the annuities will run and whether payments in the end will continue.

The Times declares that the Note is in accord with the views of the economic and financial experts of all the leading countries, including France. The journal thinks that the latter's apparent unwillingness to consider the memorandum because renunciation of passive resistance in the Ruhr is not promised, is hardly reasonable. Like the other papers, the Times supports the proposal of a conference and believes that if the memorandum is rejected, Germany will abandon any further attempt and political and social chaos will result and thus put the hope of recovering substantial reparations beyond the bounds of possibility.

The Westminster Gazette thinks that Britain would probably settle on the basis of the Note but for French opposition. The suggestion is made in some quarters that if France maintains an unbending attitude, Britain will be forced to strike out on her own policy.

He Denies Banque Made War Profits

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, June 8.—At the resumption of the hearing of the case of the Banque Industrielle de Chine M. Berthelot, questioned with regard to his failure to establish a reserve against the Treasury claims on account of the war-profits tax, declared that the Banque did not make war-profits.

The judge drew attention to the allegation that M. Berthelot had sold 1,431 of the Banque's shares before the crash. The accused replied that he had sold 548 shares in 1919 but bought over 550 shares in 1920.

M. Doyen, the expert who investigated the Banque's position, gave evidence that large credits had been granted to undertakings whose stability was doubtful.

Sikh Money-Lenders Brought To Court On Charges Of Perjury

A charge of perjury was brought against two Sikh money-lenders, Bunjan Singh and Bishen Singh, who appeared before Mr. Peter Grain, sitting as Magistrate, in the British Police Court yesterday.

The charge is made by Mr. F. M. da Cruz, 3A Dent Road, who was represented by Mr. R. C. Faithful. He claims that the Indians committed perjury on May 28 when Mr. da Cruz was a defendant in a case brought by Bisen Singh and when the present defendants falsely swore that they had seen the plaintiff teaching a school of boys.

The case was adjourned until Monday so that the summons could be amended to include the words "he wilfully made a statement material in that proceeding which he knew to be false."

Small Fire Abourd Steamer Tucksang

An outbreak of fire in the galley of the Indo-China Steam Navigation Company's steamer Tucksang, discharging cargo at the Old Ningpo Wharf resulted in a call to the Shanghai Fire Brigade at 10:52 o'clock last night.

Hongkew Division of the Brigade answered the call, but on arrival found that the blaze had been practically extinguished by the crew under direction of the Ship's Chief Officer, Mr. Cator. The damage, which was minor was confined to the galley, prompt work probably preventing a much more serious affair. The outbreak was apparently due to some wood stored near the stove taking light.

SUPER-DURABLE FLAT PAINT
FLAT WALL FINISH

A perfect Paint of smooth surface for Interior Wall Coating

The surface obtainable with this paint is smooth and flat, i.e., it is not a grainy, dead, lifeless finish, but of a velvety texture. It dries in a reasonably quick time, so that work can be carried out effectively, yet has the property of remaining open long enough to enable the worker to cover a large surface of wall without making laps or edges.

Excellent results with Super Durable Flat Finish are easily obtained, irrespective of the skill of the user, and an elaborate preparation of the surface is usually quite unnecessary.

Super Durable Flat Finish has been tried on non-absorbent surfaces of all kinds and where distemper and oil paint have proved prone to shell or flake off, it has always adhered. It gives a lasting finish of surprising beauty.

1 Imperial Gallon covers about 130 square yards one coat.

or varying the minutes of a corporation by one of its officers.

The Judge: In your amended petition you are relying upon an alleged resolution as evidenced by the minutes of the corporation. You allege a contract for the employment of the plantiff at a salary of Tls. 600 per month. You are suing on a contract set out on a resolution at a salary of Tls. 600. They admit the employment but deny his salary for a fixed one of Tls. 600 and allege that he was only to receive that amount when the company made sufficient profits to pay him this. They allege, in other words, a conditional contract.

Mr. Moss: It does not vary the terms of the contract. They permitted the plaintiff to serve as vice-president and general manager and he did serve for a period of seven months and he did draw certain sums. That is not denied.

The Judge: If they can prove it, does it not consitiute a defence?

Mr. Moss: I maintain that this resolution contains all the terms of the contract.

The Judge: Does that preclude them from alleging a different resolution or a different contract?—They are attempting to vary this contract.

The Judge: They do not say they vary this particular resolution, but they say that the plaintiff was to receive Tls. 600 provided the company has sufficient profits to pay same.

Mr. Moss: Assuming that this resolution was passed, the resolution, I mean, on which we are relying, then it would be of no force. It would be a later resolution.

The Judge: It does not appear. The date of your resolution does not appear. As I see you allege a straight salary of Tls. 600 per month and they allege that it was conditional on the company making money. Whether this is the same resolution or one attempting to modify the other must be shown.

Mr. Moss: The facts alleged are set out in the amended petition. The plaintiff claims Tls. 3,962.

Mr. H. Russel, examined, stated that he was an American citizen, and been connected with the L. C. Publishing Company since October 1, 1922. Prior to that he and Mr. Griffin owned a magazine called "The Shanghai Ladies' Companion." On October 1 this magazine was taken over by the L. C. Company, and he was appointed General Manager on a salary of Tls. 600 per month, assuming his duties on October 4. These duties he had performed till April 7, 1923, when he noticed an advertisement in the N. C. Daily News advertising the termination of his services with the company. The balance due to him was Tls. 3,972.

Cross-examined by Mr. Schuhl, plaintiff stated that the magazine was originally started by him and Mr. Griffin.

When was this resolution passed by the board of directors to that effect?—At once.

Was any mention made at that meeting—I think you attended it, I am quite sure you attended it—that the resolution was not to take effect until the company was able to pay the salary?

Mr. Moss objected.

Mr. Schuhl to Judge: I submit we have a perfect right to explain the claim that the resolution was to take effect until a certain condition occurred.

The Judge to Mr. Moss: You claim that this resolution is a written contract in itself, or is it merely a memorandum?

Mr. Moss: It is a real contract reduced in writing. The fact that the plaintiff went to work is evidence of the acceptance on his part.

The Judge: It is not the point.

Mr. Moss: If I offer a man employment and he goes to work—

The Judge (interrupting): That is a contract but it is not a written contract. If there was a contemporaneous agreement in connection with this it would be exercised by the memorandum. You are relying upon acceptance by conduct.

Mr. Moss: The plaintiff was a director of the company.

The Judge: I do not think I should exclude the defendant from proving it. If there was a conversation of this sort after the plaintiff ratified it then the objection is not good.

Mr. Moss: If there is any such provision which was part of this offer then why was that not reduced to writing? If that was not reduced to writing it cannot be introduced now. It should be evidence of the entire contract.

Judge Lobingier: It seems to me that you are in much the same position as if you had written a letter making an offer.

The cross-examination of the plaintiff was then continued.

Mr. Schuhl: I ask you whether it is a fact that at this meeting it was decided between yourself and Mr. Griffin that your salary was to commence when the company was able financially to pay it and not otherwise?—At that time I do not recollect the stipulation of salary because Mr. Griffin and myself were publishing the magazine. We drew up these articles after the magazine first came out. There was no question at that time that the salary was to be paid. It was stipulated that Mr. Griffin's salary was to be Tls. 600 and mine Tls. 600. There was no question as to when it was to be paid. We were to be paid. We were to carry on the business.

Did you not agree that the salary was not to commence until the paper was able to pay?—No, I did not.

I ask you, did you not admit in my office that it was a fact that your salary was not to commence until the paper was financially able to pay.

Objection to this question was raided by counsel on the other side, it being based on the fact that no time was specified in the interrogative.

Mr. Schuhl: Did you not admit in my office at the meeting of April 4 that the salary was not to commence until the paper was financially able to pay?—I admit that it was mutually agreed between me and Mr. Griffin that while I was in the employ of the company we would not draw and put the company in difficulty. Our salary when we did not receive it was to be credited to us.

I ask you whether you had embezzled any of the funds of the company?—I did not.

Mr. Moss took objection to this question and threatened criminal proceedings.

Mr. Schuhl: I intend to prove that he has admitted embezzlement. Otherwise I would not have asked that question.

Did you receive money mentioned in this Exhibit amounting to $310? what did you do with it —I charged it against myself in the books.

Did you pass this money to the banks?—Yes, to my own account.

I ask whether you did not tell Mr. Griffin and myself in my office that you credited it to the account of the company in the International Bank.

Mr. Moss objected, to which Judge Lobingier said that it could go in if he had made a statement.

Mr. Moss: It was not a statement on oath. He is not bound to Mr. Schuhl as he is not a director of the company.

The witness said that he made a statement to Mr. Schuhl that he had credited it to his account.

I ask you whether you did not in my office admit that you had unlawfully taken some funds and that you would return it within a week?—I said that I had taken some money, and would have it credited to me.

Sometime ago you were appointed administrator of the estate of Hoffman and you received a cheque from the Ivy Dairy Company for $60 for advertising. What did you do with the money?—I turned it over to the compradore.

Was not that cheque taken over to the compradore after we had the meeting and discussed the matter? What did you do with the cheque?—I deposited the money to the credit of the estate of Hoffman.

Why did you not credit it to the company?—The money was credited to the company and turned over to the compradore about two days later.

I ask you if it is not a fact that you took this cheque and deposited to the estate of Hoffman and that sometime later, when it came to the notice of the company what you had done, the matter was brought to your notice and you paid $60 to the compradore and sometime later paid the difference

THE CHINA GENERAL OMNIBUS CO., LTD.

The above named Company is issuing a Prospectus inviting subscriptions for 47,500 ordinary shares of Tls. 10 each payable as to Tls. 5 on Application and as to Tls. 5 on Allotment. The Prospectus states, among other hings, as follows:—

"The object for which this Company is being formed is to establish and operate a service of Motor Omnibusses in Shanghai and the surrounding district for the purpose of providing the public with additional and comfortable means of transport. The Council have intimated to the Promoters that in the interests of the Ratepayers they view the proposed inauguration and operation of Motor Omnibusses with favour, as being a probable means of relieving the present congestion of traffic in the main streets of the Settlement, and that they are prepared to give every facility to the Company provided the Company continues to use every means in its power to give efficient service and comfortable transport to the public of Shanghai. The Council have sanctioned the operation of Motor Busses over ten routes but should it be found advisable in the interests of the public to vary such routes or to extend them, the assent of the Council is assured."

The Company proposes at the outset to purchase a fleet of 30 Motor Omnibusses, of the best and most modern type procurable. The Company's technical representative will at once visit England and America with this object and he will at the same time engage the services of an expert Traffic Superintendent and a Maintenance Superintendent so that the requirements of the Public may be served by officials of adequate and long experience in order to ensure that the operation of the proposed Service shall be as perfect as skilled experience can achieve.

"It is the Company's intention to provide the public with rapid, smooth, regular and comfortable transport at a moderate cost, and it will be the Company's aim to prevent overcrowding and to provide every passenger with a seat.

"The maximum fare permitted by the Council is ten cents per mile for 1st Class accommodation and five cents per mile for 2nd Class accommodation.

"The average length of one Route or single trip is 2.4 miles. The maximum average earnings permitted by the Council tariff are $4.90 per bus per trip. The Company anticipates that no first class fare on any route now authorised will exceed 20 cents or second class fare 10 cents. On this basis if running full time the average earning per Bus per trip will be $4.10.

"Very carefully considered estimates have been drawn up wherein provision has been made for the Busses to operate 12 hours per day carrying only 50 per cent of the maximum seating accommodation; the maximum first class fare has been based on a charge of 5 cents per mile and the maximum second class fare on a charge of five cents per trip, the total average earning capacity of each Bus being taken at $1.18 per trip.

"The busy or rush periods when the Busses will be full have, for the purpose of this calculation, been entirely ignored.

"On a Capital of Tls. 500,000 the amount of the proposed first issue covering the purchase and operation of a fleet of 30 Motor Busses of the most modern design operating on four routes only, and after allowing for all running expenses, and for half the fixed or overhead charges, which have been estimated to cover 10 Routes the investment shows a profit of 11½ per cent per annum.

"Negotiations are in progress with the Council for permission to operate Motor Busses on Special Routes for Special purposes and it is hoped in time to be able to serve the public in the evening by providing special Busses running from Residential Districts to the Theatres, Cinemas, etc.

"With the rapid development of the outlying districts of Shanghai the possibilities of the Company's future activities are almost unlimited. The Promoters are convinced that the Shanghai public will readily welcome the inauguration of this new means of transportation and it will be the Company's constant aim to cater for public requirements and to furnish such good service that demands for extensions of the service will be made within a very short period."

Copies of the full Prospectus and form of Application can be obtained at the office of the Company, 6 Kiukiang Road or from the Company's Solicitors, White-Cooper, Master and Harris, 1 Museum Road.

This notice is not to be regarded as an invitation to the public to subscribe for shares and application will only be received on the footing of the full Prospectus and in the form issued therewith.

Dated 9th June, 1923.

6 Kiukiang Road, Shanghai.

A Russian named Alexander Ivanoff, 22 years old, appeared before Assessor Mead and Magistrate Yui at the Mixed Court yesterday charged with stabbing a fellow-countryman, Alexander Labanoff, in the chest with a pocket knife at 1035 Sinza Road early Thursday morning.

Police testimony was taken to the effect that the accused was very drunk, which he admitted, and it was stated that the victim of his attack would be in hospital for about ten days. Labanoff, according to the testimony, was not drinking but tried to prevent the accused and several other Russians from continuing their carouse. The case was remanded two weeks.

Obituary

MME. F. MERRANT

Madame F. Merrant who has been a teacher in the French schools, died yesterday morning from peritonitis, which developed following an operation which was performed several days ago. Besides her husband, she is survived by a little boy of five.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, June 8.—The Court is mourning today on the occasion of the funeral of Prince Kitashirakawa.

The funeral was held this morning at Toshimagaoka Cemetery, with full military and naval honors, in the presence of representatives of Their Majesties, the Prince Regent, members of the Imperial Family, members of the Cabinet, officials, the French Ambassador and Mme Claudel, with the full Embassy staff, and other members of the Diplomatic Corps.

The scenes along the seven mile route from the residence in the early hours of the morning were very impressive. The streets were lined by thousands of citizens who had come to show their respect.

Four Japanese Destroyers Coming

Tokio, June 7.—It has been announced that four second-class destroyers, "Kashi," "Hinoki," "Momo," and "Yanagi," will be assigned to the First Detached Squadron and will be despatched to Shanghai before long.

that had gone to Manchester have served to firm up the market there, but this week only a small trade has come to book in piece-goods due to the hardening tendency in Manchester prices and the declining exchange.

SERIOUS COMPETITOR

In normal times Japan is a serious competitor of Manchester in this market, and so long as prices in Manchester do not go up and exchange remains steady it should inspire further trade of a profitable nature.

It is not out of place to state that for most part of the twelve months in the year in recent years Manchester prices have been high, while exchange, on the other hand, has been low. Naturally, the Chinese dealers could be induced to bring out large quantities of goods from Lancashire as it was not profitable. Generally speaking there is some business doing with Manchester in normal times every day, but they have not been of a character to enable importing houses or Manchester manufacturers to enthuse over.

The manufactured cotton yarn and raw cotton markets this week have been overshadowed by the settlements that precede the Dragon Festival, which fall on June 18. The boycott of Japanese yarn is reported to be in full swing in Honan, while the other consuming provinces are not affected seriously. The volume of exports of this commodity from Shanghai is maintained at previous weeks' levels, being some 7,000 bales during the seven days just ended. Prices although they have been steady at the close declined and are weakish at present. There is a better feeling in the raw cotton section, but nothing spectacular has been witnessed.

TEMPTATION IS THE BALANCE IN WHICH CHARACTER IS WEIGHED

Jess Willard Is On Back Trail And Coming Strong

Jess Willard, who was knocked loose from his heavyweight crown by Jack Dempsey at Toledo on July 4, 1919, is coming back. He hasn't arrived yet, but he's on his way.

On May 12 Willard proved that the stories of his determination to have revenge on Dempsey were not fabrications. On that day he met and defeated Floyd Johnson, the aspiring Iowa heavyweight, in a battle that was as full of thrills as a fox is of ideas, and which ended in favor of the big Kansas farmer. Robert Edgren, the New York sports writer, gives an interesting account of this battle, in the May 13 issue of the San Francisco Chronicle. It follows:

New York, May 12.—New York saw the greatest day of heavyweight fighting in all its long experience of the Queensbury art today. And it was a record-breaking crowd that filled the Yankee Stadium when the heavyweight program began at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Sixty thousand people packed the grandstands even to the farthest bleachers, and the infield seats were jammed.

It was a day of knockouts, brought to a tremendous climax when Jess Willard, fighting with a desperation he never has shown before in the ring, knocked Floyd Johnson out for a full minute just at the end of the eleventh round.

Technically the knockout came in the twelfth, for Johnson was still stretched helpless in his chair when the bell rang for the twelfth.

SYMPATHY WITH WILLARD

When Willard and Johnson entered the ring it was evident the sympathy of the huge crowd was with the big fellow in his attempt to come back. Willard looked much better than in his training. The rest of the past few days put on ten pounds of weight. He scaled 248 to Johnson's 195. He was smilingly confident, but as soon as the fight began he became grim with a grimness he never has shown before.

Johnson, looking like a pigmy beside the Kansas giant, immediately attacked. He dived under Willard's first long left and sunk his right glove wrist deep in the big fellow's body.

The crowd yelled "ouch." Evidently it felt the blow. Willard, grim, met the next attack with a terrific straight left. Round after round he used that long, hard left to stop Johnson's attack, and before many rounds had been fought Floyd's features began to show bumps and cuts and bruises.

Outclassed in strength, bulk and even boxing skill, Johnson dived in doggedly, a big Battling Nelson for taking punishment. Every time he could get past Willard's left and the choppy, short rights with which the giant varied his countering, Floyd stuck close and hammered away at Willard's body, shifting now and then to swing clouting blows at Willard's neck and head.

BIG JESS STARTS TO FIGHT

After the sixth round Willard stopped his defensive tactics and counter-hitting and went after Johnson for a knockout. The smaller man tried gamely to stem the rushes of his ponderous rival, but was swept before them, beaten around the ring, staggered and shaken. In the sixth Willard knocked Johnson groggy with a fearful uppercut. This time Johnson recovered when it seemed sure he was finished. The next two rounds were desperate. Willard pressed Johnson hard, and Johnson drove in a few body blows and fought doggedly in the clinches.

Willard started the ninth fighting like a wild man, rushing Johnson around the ring and landing blows that looked fit to knock down an ox. It must be that Willard has lost some of his hitting power or Johnson is amazingly tough. After two minutes Willard slowed up, apparently exhausted by his effort.

Johnson, who had weathered the storm, plunged in and swung a fierce blow against Willard's chin, making his knees shake. A roar went up from the crowd. Then came a startling change. Enraged, Willard threw all boxing to the winds and ran at Johnson as a bull charges the matador.

A crashing straight right struck the side of Johnson's head, and Floyd was knocked flat on his face. He leaped up without waiting for the count, but the bell rang before Willard could hit again. This was near the end for Johnson.

Youth brought him back for the next round, but Willard was like a lion that has tasted blood. He almost roared as he threw himself on Johnson. Floyd hit continually, but Willard paid no more attention to the blows than a lion might to a flea bite. Still Johnson managed to worry along through the tenth and stay on his feet.

CRASHING UPPERCUT

Willard ran out for the eleventh, fresh and filled with the fury of victory. An uppercut staggered Johnson. Willard followed close. There was no sign of weariness in the giant now, only an overwhelming eagerness. Johnson was plugging away doggedly when Willard's huge right arm swept upward. A crash and Johnson was on the floor. He fell heavily. Up in a few seconds, he tried desperately to stand against Willard's furious rush, but it was nearly over. Another wide swinging uppercut, and Johnson, lifted from his feet, whirled through the air and fell on his face. He never moved.

Even as he struck the floor the bell rang. His seconds carried him to the corner, still unconscious, and he was still stiff as an icicle when the bell rang for the twelfth. The fight was over. The referee turned to Willard and waved his hand.

Rowing Club Bath To Be Opened Today

The Shanghai Rowing Club announces that the Swimming Bath will be open for mixed bathing with effect from today and thereafter on every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday night throughout the swimming season.

Mixed bathing should prove an extremely popular pastime at the Club this year, in view of the present very excellent condition of the Bath premises, which have been thoroughly renovated at considerable expense. The white tile flooring of the tank is only one among its many attractive features, which include a shoot, which is calculated to contribute much to the enjoyment of the bathing. Indeed a more alluring spot during our local "dog days" is difficult to conceive, and Bath members may accordingly contemplate the approaching heat with composure.

Just behind the editor, with his public fancied views.
And the ladies gloat and read the sprightly "Woman's Interest."
While our old pal 'Ringsider' never fails to write whats best.
Then theres 'Jack o' Justice' close by to Richard Quill,
While 'Bokays and Brickbatz' roast you on the grill.

QUICK RECOVERY BY POLICE AFTER THIEVES' LOOTING

G. $2,000 worth of goods stolen from the offices of the K. H. Butler Company, 4 Kiangse Road, early yesterday morning was brought into Central police station only a few minutes after the robbery was committed. The recovery of the loot, which comprised rolls of leather, sweaters, silk socks and stockings, underwear, postage stamps and other matter, was being transported along Kiangse Road near Kiukiang Road in a ricsha when Chinese Police Constable 789 grew suspicious and stopped the caravan. The two Chinese accompanying the load fled and it was later established that the ricsha coolie was in no way involved in the theft.

A report of the robbery was made later in the day by Mr A. A. Himsoth, manager of the company, who was agreeably surprised to find the missing goods already in Police hands. Detective Sub-Inspector Yorke, who investigated the case, found that an attempt had been made by the robbers to enter the offices of P. Servanin and Cie., on the upper floor of the building. They had entered the front door of Butler's by breaking the lock.

—When the cheque came it was credited in the books as being paid.

Is it not a fact that the cheque came in and you made the deposit sometime in March?—I cannot say.

The books show a credit of $60 a month later?—That is the compradore's books.

Why did you use this money for the estate of Hoffman?

Mr. Moss (interrupting): That claims nothing.

Mr. Schuhl: That claims to prove that he embezzled the money.

The plaintiff said that he spent some of the funds of the estate, and he had his personal and estate accounts mixed up.

I ask you whether you did not use $650 for your personal use?—No, sir, I did not.

The question of having misappropriated certain subscriptions received to his own use was raised. Asked whether he had not taken a cheque for $7 from a man connected with the Inspector-General of Customs in Peking, the plaintiff said he could not recall.

Did you not use it for your personal gain?—I admit taking some money and turning it over afterwards. The same as Mr. Griffin did. The subscription was entered and charged up, the same as Mr. Griffin would do.

Is there any account in the books in your name?—Certain things are charged against me.

The Judge: You mean a debit account?—Yes.

I ask you whether you recollect having bought a wine box and sent it to your home and charging it to the company?—I cannot recollect. I think I paid it to the compradore.

What happened to the money for subscription for $200?—I have used it. I used it because I had to get some money.

How much money did you receive from the company?—$1,100 odd.

Eleven hundred or $1,800?—$1,165. The books of the company will show the exact amount.

What became to the sum of $960?—It depends whether it was charged to me or Mr. Griffin.

The books show that you turned over $121 out of this sum?—We admit drawing so much money. What the books charge against me I will admit.

Will you explain why on April 3 you admitted in front of your attorney, in front of myself, of Mr. Schoenfeld and Mr. Griffin that there were funds due to you from the company?—I admitted that I had drawn so much money from the company and I agreed to get the money to pay it back in order not to embarrass the company as the company was in need of funds.

Re-examined by Mr. Moss, the plaintiff stated that when he drew the money he believed that the company was indebted to him.

Did Mr. Griffin draw money in his way?—Yes.

Mr. Griffin stated that 15 months ago he met the plaintiff when the latter was advertising manager of the Shanghai Mercury and he was then editor. He recollected the meeting of the directors that took place on October 4. The proposition was put and approved that the salary would be paid when the profits of the company enabled it to be done. A few days after he met Mr. Schoenfeld, and was shown the minutes of the last meeting as Mr. Schoenfeld was the secretary of the company. Witness stated that he immediately pointed out that the minutes did not record the proceedings accurately, mentioning that the salary was arranged to be paid when the funds of the company justified. The resolution was incorrectly worded. He had a conversation with the plaintiff previous to signing the minutes of October 4. Another meeting was called on in April 3 to consider a series of irregularities which witness discovered in the books and it was decided to ask the plaintiff to resign. The plaintiff said that the company owed him Tls. 600 per month during the time he had served, and witness reminded him of the arrangement arrived at on October 4 whereby both he and the plaintiff were to be paid Tls. 600 per month when the company was able to pay it.

Mr. Schuhl: Was anything said about the funds of the company taken?—He said as a general result of the prolonged discussion in which Mr. Moss took a valuable part that he committed the defalcations with which I had taxed him. We gave him a week to turn over the money which he had misappropriated. Under the understanding that he had with the company he was indebted up the extent of $1,818 and we owed him nothing. In the first few days of April I went into the books and from my inspection of the books I arrived at the fact that he owed $1,818.-30. I found that Russel received $742 in the circulation account which does not appear in the company's books or the compradore's books as having been paid. Personal accounts set off against advertisements there is a total of $149.44. Goods taken from a Japanese curio shop in the Palace Hotel building amounts to $149.-44.

Mr. Schonfeld said that when the question of the minutes not having been correctly recorded was raised, it was decided that it was a question among friends and they allowed the minutes to stand, there being a general understanding regarding the actual facts.

Was anything said with regard to the original agreement so far as the salary of Mr. Russel and Mr. Griffin was concerned? The same discussion was brought up. Russel made some claim of some money due to him. A meeting was called. Griffin said no salary was due him unless it was earned by the company. That was brought out afterwards and I carefully made a note of it.

Was there nothing said at that meeting of the funds due to company?—Russel admitted that he had the company's funds. These monies that he received are not accounted for in the books.

Argument will be heard on Monday.

A. H. Ford, Great Altruist, Speaks Here on Monday

Big Crowd Expected To Hear Internationalist On Way To Australia

Mr. Alexander Hume Ford, director and founder of the Pan-Pacific Union is undoubtedly one of the greatest internationalists of the day. The Honolulu Advertiser speaking of Mr. Ford says,—If ever there was an "Altruist" to the bone and marrow, "one who practices altruism" to the idealistic limit—one devoted to and absorbed "in the welfare of others," that one is Alexander Hume Ford, the creator, the soul, the inspiration of the Union.

Mr. Ford is at present on his way to attend the Pan-Pacific Scientific Conference to be held in Australia during the month of August, and en route is visiting Japan, China, the South Seas and the Philippines, organising the work of the Pan-Pacific Movement, meeting with leading representatives of these countries and generally fostering friendly relations.

He is to be heard next Monday noon at a meeting of the local Pan-Pacific Association which is to be held in the old Carlton Cafe, Ningpo Road, at 12:15 o'clock. Mr. F. M. Sah, formerly Special Envoy for Foreign Affairs and more recently Director of the Mint, will preside. Dr. Hu Suh of the Peking University, and Mr. S. U. Zau of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce and delegate to the recent Pan-Pacific Conference in Honolulu, will be the other speakers.

The meeting will be open to the public, to both ladies and gentlemen, the price of admission being $1.50 which includes Tiffin. Those desirous of attending, however, should send in their names to the Secretary, Mr. George A. Fitch at No. 120 Szechuen Road, sufficiently in advance for reservations to be made, or telephone him at Central 5200.

Peking Troops Demand Back Pay

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 5.—The special expenses from the Shuiwuchu for the payment of M.P.'s for completing the drafting of the constitution are said to amount to Tls. 170,000 a month.

The question of whether these expenses should be paid is being submitted to the Cabinet today. It is believed that the Cabinet will approve of the proposals.

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Peking, June 7.—Representatives of the police and gendarmerie interviewed President Li Yuan-hung today and requested their arrears of pay. The President promised to find the money for them shortly.

It is suggested in some quarters that the move has been instigated by the President's opponents in order to embarrass him.

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Peking, June 5.—It is reported that Marshal Tsao Kun has wired to the Banking Association saying that the Speaker of the House is going to borrow $300,000 from the Banking Association to find the necessary expenses of Parliament and has asked Marshal Tsao to guarantee it. In the telegram Marshal Tsao expresses willingness to act as guarantor for this loan.

The visiting centre-forward came galloping down the field and collided with the home custodian and they both fell headlong into the net.

"Sorry, old man," explained the centreforward as he rose to his feet. "Quite an accident. I couldn't see you for the sun."

"Um," grunted the goalkeeper, wiping the mud from his eye, "the next time you have an accident like that you won't see me for stars!"

NOTED VISITOR TO BE GUEST AT DINNER TONIGHT

An official dinner to the Consular Body and various Municipal and other officials will be given tonight by Mr. ....iredo Casanova, Consul-General for Portugal, in honor of General Sir Gomes da Costa, K.C.M.G., Portuguese war hero who is at present visiting Shanghai.

Yesterday afternoon a garden party in the General's honor was given by Mr. and Mrs. Casanova. Owing to the inclemency of the weather, the party was held indoors and was largely attended by members of the Portuguese community, among whom were the committees of the various Portuguese organisations and the members of the reception committee and their wives. The band of the Portuguese Company, S.V.C., played.

It is announced that the "at home" planned for today by the Sporting Section of the Club Lusitano will be postponed, owing to the state of the weather until General da Costa's return from Peking. But the garden party planned by the Portuguese community for tomorrow will be held rain or shine. Those in charge announce that the community's thanks are due to Messrs. Nanyang Brothers, not only for the loan of their artistic and extensive garden on Hart Road, but also for their courtesy in erecting a huge matshed to accommodate the guests in case of bad weather.

On Thursday night General da Costa was entertained by the Portuguese Company, S.V.C., at the Volunteers' Club, which was decorated in the Portuguese colors, green and red, and with the various national flags. Among those present besides the distinguished visitor, were Mr. Casanova, Mr. ... G. Simms, chairman of the Council, and Mrs. Simms; Colonel Gordon, of the S.V.C., Vice-Consul J. H. Botelho and Mrs. Botelho, prominent members of the Portuguese community and their wives.

The health of the President of Portugal was proposed by Mr. Casanova and Captain Diniz made the address of welcome to the General, who appropriately replied, expressing his interest in Shanghai and the Portuguese community in particular. He proposed the toast to the prosperity and advancement of the Volunteers and the community.

The Municipal Orchestra played throughout the dinner.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

June 8, 1923

Spot and forward bar silver were each down 3-16d in London yesterday. The New York priced declined to 65 cents and the London-New York cross rate to 462. Our official Sterling rate here this morning was stopped to 3-1¼, the Gold Dollar rate to 71¾, the Yen rate raised to 66½ and the other rates changed accordingly.

Our market here in the early part of the day was easy, particularly for forward delivery, with speculators buyers. In the morning business was done in Sterling at 3/1⅞ for June delivery, 3/1¼ for July and 3/1⅛ for August. Gold Dollars were done at 72⅛ for near delivery and 72 for forward.

However, there were generally sellers at these rates and in the afternoon the market steadied up closing with sellers of Sterling at 3/1⅞ for June delivery, 3/1⅜ for July and 3/1¼ for August.

There were sellers of Gold Dollars at 72¼ for near delivery and 72⅛ for forward. Banks were quoting 3/2, 7¢ and 1140 for Sterling, Gold Dollar and Franc bills respectively.

The Centinent sold silver in London yesterday and China bought, the market closing easy. New York also report their market as easy with a very limited demand for near delivery and no demand for forward.

Cotton Reports

In their weekly report on the Shanghai Cotton market, Messrs. A. B. Rosenfeld and Son write as follows:

China Cotton.—During the early part of the week, the cotton market was rather firm, prices having advanced about three-quarters of a tael. At the close, however, the undertone was steady. Regarding the crop outlook throughout the principal growing centers with the exception of the Shantung and Chihli Provinces, we have the pleasure of reporting a favorable week for the progress of the crop. The "tap root" is well down in the soil, which is generally considered a favorable sign and the farmers are satisfied with prevailing conditions. The natural result of our reasoning is that we see no reason for either materially higher or materially lower prices for cotton in the near future until something definite can be known as to the general outlook of the world markets and the progress of the crops in China.

Yarn.—The market during the early part of the week has been a shade on the easy side due to the fact of the approaching Dragon Festival Settling Day. At the close, however, the undertone was steady. In all some 6,000 to 7,000 bales have been booked for export to Szechuen, Chefoo, Weihaiwei, Canton, Tientsin, Swatow, Fukien and Hankow and over 1,000 bales direct business with our Domestic Mills has been recorded.

SPUNT'S REPORT

Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows in their weekly report on the cotton market:

China Cotton:—Our market during the past week continued steady with but very little fluctuations around the level ruling during the previous period, and while the yarn situation has not evinced any improvement prices on spot raw cotton are developing a firmer undertone, due to the fact of available supplies nearing exhaustion point at a time when the new season crop is still about three months distant before it can make its appearance and be ready to meet consumers' requirements.

Climatic conditions for the new growth have so far been favorable and with intermittent sunny and dry weather from now on we may be assured of a fairly good crop both as to quality and quantity. These conditions, however, will not affect the balance of last season's stocks as regards prevailing prices which, for the moment, show no inclination to any recessions unless in the interim there be any manifestations of distress offerings and of which there is little likelihood of any such incidents transpiring in face of the fact of a great scarcity in good grades already being experienced and there being no opportunity at present for any relief by the substitution of importations from abroad Tone of the market, Steady.

What Is To Follow?

OUR latest messages from Tsaochuang forecast the immediate release of the remaining foreign captives and most of the Chinese captives. The bandits are being taken into the army; they are receiving back pay, new uniforms and new equipment; their rights of lawful citizenship are being restored to them. Afterward—what? What is the Chinese government going to do for the future protection of Chinese and foreigners against a repetition of bandit outrages? What are the Powers, represented by the Peking Diplomatic Corps, planning to do?

Comments of many of the leading American newspapers, all of which normally are friendly to China, disclose a certain stiffening of opinion, a colder eye, a deeper questioning, a searching into the fundamental causes of China's chaos. The Boxer rebellion focused attention on China and China suffered; the revolution against the Manchus again centered attention on China in a way that could only have been favorable to China had the Chinese leaders not fallen apart in the personal warfare which since has torn the whole fabric of Chinese life apart. And now the Lincheng outrage has disclosed to the world a condition of affairs in China which is so wrong that it cannot be ignored.

"The incident is tragic for China," says the New York Globe, "for it reveals a state of anarchy which will inevitably mean additional alien interference in her affairs." Never before, observes the New York Times, "have so many foreigners been kidnapped at one stroke in such a startling manner." This outrage, declares this paper, is "primarily an indication of the lack of political cohesion and order to which China has been reduced." It was only a question of time until something like the attack on the Shanghai-Peking express was found to draw the world's attention to such "intolerable" conditions as now prevail in China, observes the New York Evening Post, which continues:

"Militarism in China has divided the country into a number of satrapies under military governors exercising arbitrary powers and has paralysed Peking and cut off most of its revenues. The military governors support their armies by the most onerous and unjust systems of taxation and seizure, while every defeat of an army in the endless civil struggles adds to the number of bandits; for the dispersed troops have to take to robbery to keep alive."

The hold-up in Shantung is traced by United States Government officials, says a New York Tribune correspondent in Washington, "directly to China's problem of unemployed war veterans":

"At least 200,000 former soldier-laborers, who saw service with the Allied armies on the Western front, have returned to China, and large numbers of them are now roaming at large without employment, constituting a serious menace. This question of how to put them to work, although actually Peking's immediate concern only, is an integral part of the economic muddle through which the Far Eastern republic is laboring.

"China needs a regular source of revenue to be applied to productive activities, such as road-building, canal, and railroad construction, under competent supervision, which would give employment to these thousands of discharged soldiers. This is admitted to be the principal factor upon which depends China's economic transformation."

"America desires to be on good terms with China, and this feeling is undoubtedly reciprocated by the Peking government, but the recurrence of such incidents makes good relations difficult," says the Springfield Republican. . . "things cannot be allowed to go on as they have been going; either Americans will have to be warned that if they enter China it is at their own risk, or some method for their protection must be found. To allow them ignorantly to incur danger and if they are harmed to scold and punish what is practically a dummy government gets nowhere and only breeds increasing ill will.

"This new incident emphasises the fact, more than once reported by trustworthy observers, that China has been retrograding since the Washington conference. It appears to confirm the judgment of travelers in China who have reported conditions to be worse than at any time since the Boxer riots of 1900."

Will China heed these friendly but earnest counsels?

Child Labor

(Contributed)

THOSE who have been watching the problem of child labor will hear with interest the decision of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson to prohibit the employment of boys under 10 and girls under 12 in their mills after September 1.

Here is the opportunity for all those who have been agitating for this reform to help in a very practical way, for back of this decision lies the need for strenuous action. First and foremost, the need for this reform must be interpreted to the workers in a very clear way and their co-operation enlisted. Their reasons for wishing their children to work must be sympathetically and practically met, and, further, provision must be made for the education of the children.

It is understood that a committee has recently been formed in Shanghai which unites all those who have been working on this problem, and that it stands ready to help. The decision of this well known British firm will help to clear the judgment of those not yet convinced of the case against child labor, and will materially encourage the Municipal Council in its Commission on this question.

More Truth Than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

If all the people always
Were as good as they could be
It need not be supposed
That the courts would all be closed
Or that doctors would agree;
There would still be work for lawyers,
Jails would still be occupied,
And starvation and despair
Would continue here and there,
With some looting, on the side.

There would still be disagreements
Between husbands and their wives;
Some men would be rich and proud,
Others would be poor, and bowed
Under burdens all their lives;
Men and nations would have quarrels,
Blood, as usual, would flow;
Trouble hunters would remain
To admonish and complain
As they traveled to and fro.

If all the people always
Practised what they thought was good
One might notice, now and then,
Little groups of friendly men
Claiming common brotherhood.
But dissension and contention
Would be often heard and seen;
Things that Black and Brown and White
Might consider fair and right
Would seem wrong to Gray and Greene.

Jones would not like Smith's religion,
Tom's wife wouldn't speak to Dick's,
There would be diverging views
With regard to business, booze,
Women's clothes, and politics;
If all the people always
Were as good as they could be,
Bigots, in their cheerful way,
Still would curse you, and they'd pray
That the devil might get me.

Correspondence

BRUTAL SOLDIERS AND POLICE

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS.

Dear Sir: Today while I was on my way to my home I found at one of the street-corners in Nanking a crowd of people. As I was curious to know what was the matter, I approached the scene. To my utter amazement, I found a soldier beating a rickshaw-puller and tearing the coat that the poor man wore. I asked what was the matter, and, the information I got was that after going about the city for three hours or more the soldier gave the puller ten cents. The puller wanted some more and the result was the merciless beating and kicking.

While the trouble was still going on a policeman stepped in. But this policeman was even worse. After questioning the soldier he was satisfied with the answers he got, and without further inquiry he slapped the poor ricksha puller in the face. Now, I want to know whether that is the duty of a policeman, one who is supposed to look after the welfare of the community? I told the policeman to bring both the puller and the soldier to the police depot which is at Kulou. I do not know what was the result.

From the many instances of this same nature which I have got since I came to Nanking, I conclude that the militarists are really doing havoc in China and that the Chinese policemen down here in Nanking are really worthless. The authorities should take steps and see to it that the policemen really know their duty. The Poor Should Be Protected As Well As The Rich!

Thanking you very much for inserting this in your column,

Yours faithfully,
P. Shenche Cheng.

PERFORMANCE OF JULIUS CAESAR

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS.

Sir: It is to be hoped that there will be a good response by the people of Shanghai to this fine, public-spirited attempt by Shanghai schoolboys to help the London Hospital.

Saturday is perhaps not a good night on which to present Shakespeare in Shanghai, and some of us may feel that, after all, to sit for two hours watching schoolboys' efforts on the stage is not an attractive alternative to a dancing-party.

May I, therefore, as one who has seen the boys in Julius Caesar, reassure all interested, first, that the performance needs no apology and no discounting on the score of its being produced by boys, and second, that it is not long? The intervals are very short—surprisingly so in comparison with what we sometimes experience—and those who attend may still have an hour or two's dancing if they wish to, and enjoy it none the less for having witnessed a good performance and helped in a good cause.

My reason for writing this letter is that I, like many others, would like to see the Hospital benefit substantially; but I must, in fairness, say that the performance on its own merits is well worth the money paid to see it.

Thanking you for receiving this letter, I am Sir, Yours faithfully, Englishman.
June 8, 1923.

"MISDIRECTED ACCUSATION"

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS.

Sir.—Mr. Anzo, evidently, does not understand English. If he will call in an English linguist to help him, the gentleman will inform him that Mr. Gordius Nielsen's letter, commenting on Mr. Hugh W. White's assertion that Japan was responsible for the Lincheng outrage, was a direct challenge to Mr. White to prove what he alleged. Mr. Gordius Nielsen is the Shanghai correspondent of the "Japan Chronicle," and in that excellent paper, Mr. Anzo will find that Mr. Nielsen ridicules the idea that Japan has had anything to do with the origin of the Lincheng affair. But Mr. Nielsen adds, that it is no wonder such rumors are easily believed by the ignorant and uncritical considering the policy pursued by Japan towards China during the last 30 years. I am,

Gordius Nielsen.

Palenque Ruin Called Cradle Of Old Mexico

BY JACK STARR-HUNT

Mexico City.—One of the most important of recent archaeological expeditions is that of Frans Blum, a young Danish scientist, which has returned from the ruins of Palenque, in Chiapas. Although these ruins are not as well known as those of Yucatan they are among the greatest of the Maya remains. The Department of Archaeology is making extensive plans for rebuilding and preservation of Palenque, confining its reconstruction work to the architectural principles of the Mayas.

Palenque, before the expedition of Blum, consisted mainly of some eight large buildings in a comparatively small area, although scientists who had explored the ruins declared that further traces could be seen in all directions. It remained for Blum to uncover the city, which is shown to be some eight kilometers long running from east to west and four kilometers west, from north to south. This area, however, included merely the principal part of the metropolis, as the huts of the lower classes doubtless extended for much longer distances.

HISTORY IN DOUBT

Little is known of the history of the city, as the traces were not discovered until 1789. It is believed to have been deserted before the coming of the Spaniards, as there is no mention of Palenque in any of the chronicles of the old conquerors.

From tombs and temples discovered it is said that this place was the great religious city and burying ground of the Mayas, similar to the Valley of the Dead in Egypt. As it was the center of the early Maya civilisation, it is thought the leading men of the Mayas wished to have their tombs amid the burial place of their fathers long after the founding and rise of Chichen Itza, Uxmal and other Maya cities.

Palenque stands amid the Chipas mountains on a natural shelf some sixty meters above the plains of the State of Tabasco. The ruins extend from the bottom of the shelf, where there are remains of a bridge and a cemetery, to the summit of the range of hills, pyramids and other structures being found along the entire distance.

The buildings were brightly colored, generally having a red background. Nestling amid the tropical vegetation of the green hills, with its multicolored buildings, the city overlooked the entire expanse of the fertile lowlands of Tabasco. The architecture, sculpture and paintings give evidence of the highest period of Maya art. From the area covered by the ruins it is believed Palenque was one of the largest of the native cities on the American continent.

MANY BUILDINGS UNCOVERED

The Blum expedition uncovered buildings, roads and mounds. Nearly all of the structures contained a series of complicated subterranean departments. One of the houses was intact.

Besides five groups of buildings, twenty detached houses were found. Many of these were of great size and beauty, and almost all well preserved. A number of aqueducts demonstrated that the city was provided with an efficient system of water supply.

Four large groups of graves were bared, all carefully constructed and containing a large number of bodies. Without exception the bodies were buried with the head to the north. Pottery vessels and other implements in the graves indicate that the Mayas placed food and other articles with their dead. A number of well preserved teeth were found, some of which were perforated in the front as if for inlays, and one contained an inlay of back pyrite.

A mother-of-pearl pendant, several artistically carved jade objects and a stone three meters in size carved to resemble the head of a grinning crocodile were discovered.

The figure in the structure known as the Temple of the Slab, and called the most beautiful example of Maya art, now has disappeared with the exception of the feet. The celebrated temples of the Sun and the Cross are well preserved, the floor of the latter being made of a highly polished red stone. A new inscription was found on the Temple of the Cross.

KEY TO MYTHOLOGY

Although the hieroglyphics have not been deciphered, it is believed that the key to the inscriptions will be found in the near future, when a new epoch of mythology and history will be revealed. Early students on the subject were of the opinion that the Mayas had the same mythology as the Aztecs, but it is believed now that the Mayas antedated and had little connection with the Nahuas and other races to the north.

From what little that is known of their culture the Mayas were possessed of a much higher civilisation than any of the races inhabiting the continent before the coming of the Europeans. Astronomy was well developed and the accuracy of observations shows that they extended over hundreds of years. The Maya calendar is said to be even more exact than that now used by the civilised peoples of the world.

The Missing Husband Emigma

BY GENE FOWLER

Seated at tiffin with that master of detectives, Arson Clews, all the world seemed strange, unreal. Possibly it was the sight of Arson's newly marceled toupe that gave me the feeling that everything was false. Soon I was roused from my lethargy and almost was strangled on a dainty bit of matzoth as a ruddy-faced, pale stranger dashed into Clews' apartment on Bleeker street.

"He's gone!" exclaimed the intruder. "He left no word."

Arson Clews straightened visibly. If he hadn't straightened visibly, I never should have noticed it, so clever is he. Straightened or not, the man is a crook. He smirked and said to me:

"Boobson, it looks like a cash customer."

"He's gone," the stranger repeated. "Baron Selmer, trustee of the Girls' Night School, is missing."

"Come, Boobson," commanded Clews, "here is work to do. Put on your shoes and let us go."

"I am interested in girls," I replied.

Caught in a traffic jam near a well known home-brewer's our taxicab purred to a rusty rest. A women's face was thrust in the side window. Clews at first thought it was a Corot landscape, so adroitly was it painted. The woman shouted at the famous detective:

"He's gone. He's gone!"

"Your dog, madam?" asked the great sleuth.

"Not as bad as that," the woman replied. "I refer to my husband, Baron Selmer. He took only a swimming suit and a pair of old shoes with him."

"Probably he went to the beach," I suggested. Clews frowned and said smilingly

"Pipe down, you sapp! Chauffeur, take us to Trotter's!"

"Wait here, Boobson," directed Arson Clews, "and listen to the strains of yon music while I find the Baron."

Hardly ten days elapsed before Clews returned, dragging by the neck a rather wilted figure clad in an orchid-hued bathing suit. I was amazed at such rapid action, such a speedy solution to the mystery. I noted that the man's shoes seemed strangely worn on the soles. I thought, perhaps, he had occasioned this by kicking at the high prices in Trotters' grill.

We were gazing out of the dumb waiter of Arson Clew's apartment, watching the tradespeople play "Fox and Farmer," when the master of criminologists saw fit to break his silence with a hiccough. He gargled:

"I warrant that Baron Selmer got a piece of his wife's mind, even if she has so little that she can't spare even a fragment of it."

"What is at all about?" I asked.

"Simply this," and Clews dropped a geranium pot playfully on the group of frolicking merchants in the street below. "The moment I heard the Baroness mention something about the Baron's taking comfortable shoes with him, I knew he was going to do something that required a severe strain on the feet. If it had been something that required a severe strain on the brain he would have worn a comfortable hat. You follow me? I'm glad you don't. Most dogs do.. Anyway, I was sure he wasn't going to the seashore in a pair if old shoes, even if he did wear a bathing suit.

"The bathing suit gave me another idea. He was presumably intending to be garbed for an athletic emergency. Now, no doubt, you have been reading about the recent, exploits of Marathon and other long-distance dancers. So I directed our man to take us to Trotter's, where it was tacitly understood that a bottle of rare old Scotch would be a prize for the champion."

"And you found the gay old Baron there?" I interposed.

"The same," responded Clews, "And when I apprehended him there, dancing with seventeen of the students of the Girls' Night School, he guessed my interest in this mystery and confided:

"I am ready to go home now, I am the champion! I danced 235 consecutive hours without any trouble at all."

"How in blazes did this venerable man accomplish this?" I inquired of Clews. He strolled over to a decanter, where he keeps a good old brand of iodine, took a snifter of it, smacked his lips in approbation and elucidated:

"Nothing wonderful in it at all, my dear Boobson! You see, the old Baron had danced for twenty-one years to his wife's merest whims, so he was qualified for any mere Marathon of modern jazz. Proper training methods, that is all."

I looked out the apartment window, meditatively New York City was still there.

Gladioli In The Home Garden

No flower that grows has taken a greater hold upon the fancy of women who make gardens than the race of gladioli known as Primulinus hybrids. The older type of gladiolus has long been a popular flower, and has its place, of course, in every garden plot. But the new orchidlike varieties are so delicately colored, so dainty in form and so decorative when cut that their appeal is irresistible. They were obtained by crossing the common gladiolus with a yellow species found growing wild almost under the spray of the great Victoria Falls in the heart of Africa.

The new race is characterised by a peculiar dropping petal at the top of each flower, giving the appearance of a hood. The flowers are smaller than those of other types, but on the other hand, a single bulb often throws up from three to six sprays.

Although these Primulinus hybrids are prized for their height and graceful habit of growth, it is the exquisite colorings of the individual flowers that commend them for cutting. The colors are never brilliant, as in other forms of gladioli, but have a peculiar softness that runs through many shades from terra cotta to white. The great majority, however, carry shades of yellow, apricot, orange and bronze. These flowers lend themselves so well to decorative purposes that florists are often called upon to match the gowns of bridal parties or the interior furnishing of a home.

It is not to be argued that the Primulinus hybrids should be the only gladioli grown; yet they should have a place in every collection. The older and larger types give a wider range of strong colors, and are especially useful for massing, or to grow for the table. It is not at all difficult to find varieties of almost any color which may be desired for carrying out a fixed garden scheme. The pink garden, for example, will contain such fine flowers as Daybreak, Gretchen Zang, Halley, Dawn, Pink Wonder and Pink Perfection. In a garden where yellow is needed, Schwaben, Klondike, Sunrise, Gold Drop, Buttercup, Flora and Yellow Prince may be grown, with Altair and Alice Tiplady if shades of orange and bronze are needed. Lavender can be obtained by using such gladioli as Wistaria, Mary Fennell, Nora, Cattleya, Hortense, Iris Spray and Hereda. For white varieties there are White Wonder, Europa, Glory of Holland, Peace, Chicago White, White Glory and Miss Helen Franklin, among others. Mrs. Frank Pendleton and Willie Wigman are not to be overlooked if blotched varieties find favor, and a few kinds like Amethyst and Prince of India have delightful Persian shades.

All forms of the gladiolus are very easy to grow. To be sure, the bulbs prefer a light, sandy soil, but soil that is too heavy can readily be lightened by adding coal ashes, wood ashes or lime. Planting can be done any time from the first of May to late June Care should be taken that the bulbs go into the ground right side up and four or five inches deep so that the plants will be well anchored in the soil. If planting is begun at once, and additional bulbs put in at short intervals, there will be a season of bloom lasting for many weeks, providing the finest of flowers for table and house decoration.

Going Crazy

BY DR. CHARLES FLEISCHER

A Canadian professor assures the world that it is going crazy.

A comforting assurance, if we are all moving together in that direction! We shall be beyond need of consolation when we have all arrived in crazydom.

It reminds me of the proposal in Shakespeare's play to send the supposedly insane Hamlet to England.

"Twill make no difference there"—suggests the Bard, who surely ought to know his own country—"for there they are all mad."

If the Canadian professor proves right, it won't matter; because we shall probably all progress at the same rate towards the same goal.

And nobody will notice it; for the world of the insane is even more steadily real to them than is the recognised order of things to the supposedly sane.

What worries our Canadian friend is not only the appalling statistics on this score, but the tense, intense, upset and upsetting condition of human affairs resulting from the late Great Orgy of Hate.

Hatred being itself a madness, it is not surprising that part of the aftermath of so terrible successful an organisation of the surviving human capacity for hatred, known as the World War, should be a marked increase in the tendency towards insanity.

Statistics and the general impression bear out the belief that the war has also been followed by such loosening of moral fibre as to encourage crime.

Here, too, the particular wrongdoer represents the general inclination or possibility.

John Wesley, Methodist preacher, commented on the murderer going to the gallows: "There, but for the grace of God, go I, John Wesley!"

In that speech of gracious sympathy the saintly teacher simply registered his recognition of the fact that "we are none of us so very good"—or sane, let us add.

Be that as it may, statistics to the contrary notwithstanding, it is not likely to be, or to become, true that we are all going mad or going bad.

Statistics are only superficial indications. Regarding insanity and wickedness, they are only the scum on the deep slow-flowing river of life.

Pollyanna may not tell the whole truth about life, but she certainly tells the more wholsome truth that the desperately fearful pessimist can neither see nor recognise.

At any rate, though none of us may be willing to acknowledge being either mad or bad, we can at least intelligently sympathise with the other fellow whom we suspect of being both.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.
